

Diamond Jubilee • 1893 - 1968

Sept. 6, 1897 -- Work progresses on Manual Training Building (Bowman) and MHS

A family reunion, football weekend, banquet, and a touch of the Fourth of July — this is "Heritage and Horizon," Stout's Diamond Jubilee Homecoming Oct. 18-20.

General chairman Jack Sampson (MS 57) and his committees have planned what he terms "a real family type program with something for everyone."

SAMPSON

The theme of heritage will be strong during the gala Diamond Jubilee banquet Friday, Oct. 18 when attention will focus on the oldest alumnus present, families with five or more members who have attended Stout, former Homecoming queens, class presidents and football captains. Readers who think they or someone they know should be recognized in these or other categories are urged to clip and mail the attached form today.

Noted MIT philosophy professor-author Huston Smith, who specializes in the problems of closing the gap in understanding which has developed between the scientific and humanistic components of our culture, will be the banquet speaker. Those who knew the late Pres. L. D. Harvey may hear him again in a recorded message.

And to keep the memories in permanent form, a Diamond Jubilee souvenir booklet has been prepared for each Jubilee-goer.

The IE conference is scheduled Oct. 18; other activities will follow the traditional Homecoming format, with the class reunions of 1943, 1958 and 1963 scheduled Oct. 19.

Heritage . . .

The Alumni association's annual meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 19 in the Alumni room of the student center.

All alumni will be notified soon of the time, location and cost of the banquet and where lodging may be found.

For special recognition during Diamond Jubilee I suggest:

Plaques signifying their membership in Stout's President's club were presented by President Micheels to these area residents who visited the campus in late July. From left, standing, are: Micheels; Henry Tourville, Minneapolis, and his daughter, Mary, and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Talen, Menomonie. Mrs. Tourville and Una Mae Krebs Hansen (20, 25), Menomonie, are seated. W. Warren Barberg (51), Foundation president from Eau Claire, then awarded a similar citation to the President, himself a member of the club. Membership in the President's club is made up of those who have given $1000 or more to the Stout State University Foundation, Inc. Other members are: Kenyon S. Fletcher (26, 29), Sarasota, Fla.; Harry W. Stevens (26, 31), Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Andrew G. Schneider, Chicago; Julia K. Lotwin, Milwaukee; Margaret Woodson Fisher, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; Estell H. Curry (31), Detroit; Margaret L. Masee (25), Detroit, and Willard H. Keland, Racine. All have been invited to the campus to receive their plaques during Diamond Jubilee. The late Robert L. Pierce was also a President's club member.

"Ohh, it's beautiful." KAREN FLADOES (12) admires one of the traditional commemorative bowls which were presented to her and HOWARD CAMPION (14) as the 1968 Distinguished Alumni award winners by Pres. Micheels. At left is JOSEPH D. KOCH (57), Alumni association president.

Accident Takes Life Of Lloyd Trent; Memorial Fund Set

Lloyd Trent, 51, director of development and alumni services at the University since May, 1965, died June 15 in the University of Minnesota hospitals. Funeral services were held the following Wednesday in Cass Lake, Minn., where Mr. Trent had been superintendent of schools for 17 years.

MR. TRENT

Mr. Trent died of complications that developed following brain surgery which had been performed after he had suffered a severe head injury May 11 in an accident in St.

Cloud, Minn. Details of the accident remain unknown.

A memorial fund in his honor has been set up at Stout and contributions in his name may be sent to the Stout State University Foundation, Inc.

Mr. Trent, Stout's first full-time alumni director, was known to hundreds of alumni personally through his visits to their club meetings and on campus and to many hundreds more through his correspondence.

A graduate of the University of North Dakota, he is survived by his wife, Eleanor, of Cass Lake; a daughter, Mrs. Muryl Davis, Golden Valley, Minn., and a son, Michael, a captain with the USAF in England.

Alumni may correspond with either the Alumni association or the Foundation by writing to the alumni office at Stout. Letters to and items for the Alumnus may be addressed to the Editor.

THE STOUT ALUMNUS

The Stout Alumnus is the official publication of the Alumni Association of Stout State University, Menomonie, Wis. It is published quarterly and entered at the post office at Menomonie, Wis., as third class matter.

Key

(As promised last issue, a campus map. With it, below and on the next page, a review of current construction as the copy went to the printer in August. Since then, ground has been broken for the science-tech building and fourth cubes on HKM and CKT dormitories. The old Menomonie Central high school is gone, as is the armory.

A relocatable building, housing 12 classrooms and 50 offices, is planned for the parking lot south of the heating plant.

The bulldozer continues to make "current" maps obsolete.)

Bulldozer Dominates Campus As Skyline Changes

The word "horizon" certainly implies much more than new buildings. But new buildings are a very real part of Stout's horizon, and new directions, new outreach, new ideas are inherent in the $7½ million building program released last spring.

Throughout the summer progress continued on the $1 million addition to the library. The Menomonie city council approved the closing of Ninth Ave. between Third St. and Fourth St. and Second St. between 10th and 13th Aves.

During early August, as the Alumnus went to print, it was learned from Joe Gubasta, Stout's coordinator of facilities planning, that bid openings on several eagerly-anticipated projects were imminent or had just been completed.

This included the science and technology building (July 31), set for the area between 10th and 12th Aves., and Fourth and Fifth Sts.; the administration building and demolition of the former Central high school (Aug. 7), a two-part project which will house administration at the corner of Main and Broadway and include a 65-car parking area; a round and "innovative" Child Study center (Aug. 13), north of Ninth Ave. fronting on Sixth St., and a materials testing laboratory (Sept. 10).

Answering a critical need, parking facilities are being opened by removing vacant buildings on state-owned land. Earlier this month an additional 60-car area was opened behind Hovlid and Fleming.

Other state - designed projects which are nearing construction are 10 tennis courts, eight south of the Health and Physical Education center and two south of North hall adjacent to Broadway; an audio-visual annex to be located in the basement of Bowman directly under the existing A-V complex, and a language laboratory and speech correction laboratory to be located in the lower level of "new" Central school.

Just over the horizon are two future projects, both in the preliminary design stage. The first, a single student apartment complex, is tentatively placed south and east of Nelson field. The other, an outdoor physical education development, will be made possible in the future by the recent purchase of additional land immediately south of Nelson field.

Fox Valley Alumni Will Meet Sept. 28

The annual dinner meeting of the Fox River Stout Alumni will be Saturday, Sept. 28 at Josef's Supper Club, Oshkosh. A 6:30 p.m. social hour is scheduled, followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Cost of the dinner will be $2.50 per person. Those planning to attend should contact Mrs. Brian Jennerjahn, 877 Betty Ave., Neenah.

Hazel Van Ness, Home Ec "Constant" Completes Career on Note of Fashion

She served under three presidents, five deans and with a staff which has doubled three times and includes nine of her former students.

Fibers, faculty, students, labs — all have undergone the growth explosion. But in the midst of this number-oriented world, Hazel Van Ness remained a constant.

Miss Van Ness retired this summer after 39 years in the clothing and textiles department — the last several as its chairman.

When she came to Stout in 1929 with a new master's degree from Columbia, the nation was poised on the edge of a depression, "Bud" Micheels was a student here and, in teaching clothing, Miss Van Ness and Lillian Jeter discussed the five existing fibers.

Today the affluent society has produced a different breed of student, the local boy is Stout's president and the 12 members of the clothing, textiles and design staff scramble to keep up with the new fibers which almost daily join the more than 100 now in use.

Very much a part of the overall growth of her department, Miss Van Ness's name is irrevocably linked with two special innovations. In the 1950's when major remodeling began under the tenure of Dean Alice Kirk, Miss Van Ness worked with others in the development of a self-contained sewing unit which is now manufactured in Wisconsin and sold as the Stout Sewing Unit.

Culmination of her career, however, was her initiation and organization of Stout's Fabric and Fashion study tours to Europe. She returned last month from her fifth tour, which she served as special consultant.

Having taught the daughters of many of her former students, Miss Van Ness feels that today's women have more initiative and creativity but are less willing to follow the instructor's suggestions. Larger class size has done away with the

A farewell gift from the Faculty association presented with a kiss by its president, Dave Barnard (46, 47).

"tranquility and closeness" of other years.

"Leisure living" is what she calls her current phase of life. Residing in New York state, she plans to relax and visit with friends and family in the east from New York to Florida.

Ask Alumni Help In Selecting New Home Economics Dean

Alumni help is being asked in the search now underway for an outstanding person to fill the position of dean of the school of home economics.

The six member search committee, appointed last spring by Pres. Micheels, is in the process of identifying potential candidates. Its members feel that some alumni may be in excellent positions to suggest further possible candidates which the committee may not know about.

Two prime requisites for the position are: 1) a doctorate and 2) successful administrative experience.

Alumni who know of a person with the stature and leadership ability to head the home economics school are invited to send that person's name and known background material to: (Dr.) Lorraine Dahlke, Rm. 10, Graduate College, Stout State university, Menomonie, Wis., 54751.

Better Balanced Devil Squad Out to Avenge '67

The Bluedevils are out to avenge a disappointing 1967 season which saw them drop eight of their nine games before breaking loose in the final game of the season to hand arch rival River Falls a 28-7 defeat.

Coach Max Sparger was plagued last season with early fall injuries and the job of building with a young crew. But all that is history as the better balanced '68 squad, with 27 returning lettermen, go all out to recapture the form that took the 1965 team to the conference championship.

With the return of 10 of the 11 starters from last season, the offensive platoon should be able to move the ball. The quarterback spot should be ably handled by sophomore Rocky Maxson or senior Larry Helgason. Great things are expected of Reggie Holmes, a first year man from Alliance, Ohio, along with returning Duane Stevens, Roger Goldbach, Dick Trinkl and Donn Reich. The offensive line will have lettermen at every position, headed by center James Jarchow and guard Louis Husby.

The defensive team suffered the greatest loss, with the graduation of three interior linemen: James Warrington, David Gianlorenzi and Tom Strehlo. The arrival of Jerry Hermann, who transferred from Minnesota, and the late season play of Gary Inskeep give the coaching staff hope that the defense may become one of the best in the conference as the season progresses.

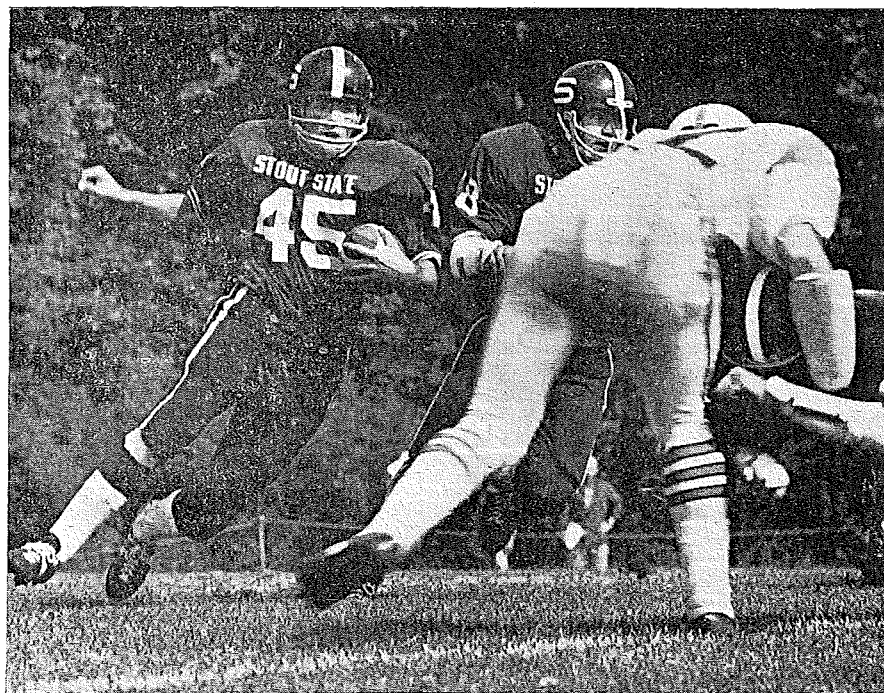

"If we can get a couple of early season wins under our belt, this could be a real fine football team," Sparger said, in late summer.

Coaches Named for Track, Swimming

Two Wisconsin high school coaches have been named to head coaching jobs at Stout.

Robert J. Kamish, 29, head football and track coach at the Stanley-Boyd high school, Stanley, since 1965, will serve as track coach and as an assistant football coach. Robert D. Smith, 31, head swimming coach at Rhinelander high school since 1961, will serve in the same capacity here.

Kamish, a Macalester graduate, led his team to the Cloverbelt conference championship in 1966. A La Crosse graduate, Smith has consistently coached one of the state's top teams.
